Bayshore Accident Kills George Pender, R.C. Man

George Hugh Pender, 67, civilian guard at an army camp in Belmont, was killed early Monday in an unexplained Bayshore Hwy. accident a few blocks from his home on Hoover St., south of Redwood City.

According to the California Highway Patrol, Pender for some unknown reason had parked his car on the east side of the highway and was crossing to the west when he was struck by the southbound vehicle of Mervyn A. Harris, 34, Watsonville, a railroad conductor.

Harris told police that Pender appeared to be running across the highway.

According to members of Mr. Pender's family, he left his place of employment at midnight. The accident occurred at 12:30 a.m. He was taken to Mills Memorial Hospital by Lt. Gene A. Groffie of Moffett Field and was pronounced dead on arrival of a fractured skull and other injuries.

Mr. Pender and his wife, Bertha, had been living with their daughter, Mrs. Alta Hargrove, at 417 Hoover St., for the past year. Formerly they lived in Vallejo. Mr. Pender was a member of the Masonic fraternity in Rush Springs, Okla.

He was the father of Mrs. Gladys Johnson and Mrs. Hortense Smith of Vallejo, A. W. Pender of San Jose, Mrs. Helen Cockerham of Redwood City, and stepfather of Joe Cobb, Tulare.

Dep. Coroner Lewis E. Franklin theorized that Mr. Pender, who was near-sighted, lost his way, had passed the Hoover St. turn off, had turned around and was looking for the intersection when he was struck.

The car, parked on the east shoulder and headed north, was found to be in perfect working order, Franklin said.

Funeral arrangements at the Franklin & Crowe Mortuary are pending.

California Highway Patrol said it is investigating the report of an accident on Skyline Blvd., near the La Honda intersection at 1:10 p.m. yesterday. Injured were Paul MacAvoy, 19, San Francisco, who was admitted to Palo Alto Hospital. Also listed on the CHP report was Jean Holcomb, 18, San Francisco. The hospital said it had no record of Miss Holcomb and could not disclose the extent of MacAvoy's injuries. The drivers were Warren L. Fischer, 26, Redwood City and Richard Soria, 20, San Francisco.

Also treated at Palo Alto Hospital for undisclosed injuries were Mrs. Albina John, 38, Woodside, and John Meltzer, Palo Alto, hurt at 12:45 a.m. Sunday in Santa Clara County.

War Council Schedules Youth Meet

Announcements are in the mail today for a conference called by the Redwood City War Council to choose a committee to study and attempt to solve the problems of youth in wartime in this locality. The meeting will be held Feb. 9 at 8 p.m. in the city hall council chambers.

Invited to the conference are representatives of schools, churches, civic and youth organizations and individuals whose background of experience or training, or whose interest in the problem, would make their suggestions and advice helpful in planning a program.

As stated by the council, the purpose will be to deal with the youth problem before it becomes delinquency.

Louis Dematteis, assistant district attorney, who will be a speaker at the meeting, said today he felt an organized community effort to deal with the problems of youth is becoming increasingly urgent. Delinquency, he said, has been noticeably increasing since the war started.

Marine Colonel Expresses Appreciation

A little over 11 months ago the first American woman donned the attractive uniform of the marine corps women's reserve. Today, thousands of girls in the marine forest-green with scarlet markings are working in control towers and link trainers, driving transport vehicles, rigging parachutes, and performing other highly specialized duties formerly handled by male marines. Every woman marine has released a man for the fighting front, and thus has participated in glorious American victories such as those on Bougainville, Tarawa and New Britain.

In pointing out these inspiring accomplishments during the first historic year that women have worn the uniform of this distinguished branch of America's fighting forces, Col. D. M. Randall, the officer in charge of the Western Procurement Division, U. S. Marine Corps, stated that an important contribution to the success of the women marine's recruiting program has been the splendid co-operation of newspapers and advertisers. An example of this co-operation is seen in this issue of the Beacon. The advertisement of Pacific Greyhound Lines is devoted almost wholly to marine corps women's reserve recruiting. This message to women is running in more than 500 newspapers throughout California, Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico and parts of Texas.

Palo Alto Girl Hurt in Accident

Carol Lincoln, 15, 1243 University Ave., Palo Alto, received a possible shoulder fracture at 9 p.m. Monday when the automobile in which she was riding overturned on Alpine Rd. one-fourth mile south of Portola Rd., the California Highway Patrol reported today. Paul W. Strobel, 16, 2388 Palo Verde Ave., Palo Alto, driver of the car, told the CHP that he lost control of the car when it hit loose dirt.

Committee Discusses Air Transport

BELMONT — Walter A. Rodhe, secretary of the air transport planning committee of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, was the guest speaker at a luncheon held Tuesday at the Belmont Hospitality House by the Peninsula division of the Bay Area Air Transport Committee of which Mrs. Laura Roeder, Belmont Chamber of Commerce president, is chairman.

Rodhe said his committee had been organized more than a year ago and was interested in contacting all the chambers of commerce within a 50 mile radius of San Francisco where a minimum of 25 airports will be located after the war. These will be of all classes, he said, the smaller communities providing feeder service. Another matter that is being looked into, he said, is the proposed Bayshore Freeway.

Ray I. Hess, district airport engineer for the CAA and San Francisco Airport, also spoke, declaring every desirable site for an airport on the Peninsula will be needed as the topography of this region is not too good for airports. He said there will be a minimum of 150 airports in Northern California soon after the war and approximately 28,000 airplanes operating in the state.

Mrs. Roeder closed the luncheon meeting with the remark that "we must stick together down on the Peninsula and work together for the good of the whole section." Another meeting was called for Feb. 8 at the Hospitality House when chairmen of planning committees of the different localities will be invited to be present.

Among those attending the meeting were E. H. Bentrott, Palo Alto city councilman and member of the planning committee of that city; Augustus Locke, secretary of the Menlo Park Planning Committee; Harold Anderson, city engineer of Palo Alto; Robert W. Mead, city manager of Redwood City; E. W. Butler, Redwood City Chamber of Commerce; Granville Browning, Burlingame Chamber of Commerce; G. K. Robbins of South San Francisco; R. Guy Smith, secretary of the Coastside Chamber of Commerce at Moss Beach; Peter Dahl, Burlingame Chamber of Commerce; Judge M. J. Bettencourt, Half Moon Bay Chamber of Commerce; Harold J. Flannery, city engineer, San Jose; Truman S. Waterbury, San Carlos councilman; A. L. Boucher, president San Carlos Chamber of Commerce; Robert Dyer Sr., executive secretary of San Carlos Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Catherine Heartsner, Belmont city clerk; Henry T. Waldon, Belmont councilman and Mrs. Doris C. Thompson, secretary, Belmont Chamber of Commerce.

Newsboy Robbed At Colma Cemetery

Robert Logarrigue, 11-year-old San Francisco newsboy, told police there Monday that a man forced him into an auto as he was selling his papers at Howth and Niagara Sts., struck him in the jaw and drove him to a cemetery near Colma. There the man, whom the boy described as "young" robbed him of 35 cents and a pocket knife and left him. The boy made his way to a telephone and called his family.

Judge Cotton Cracks Down On Burglar

Superior Court Judge A. R. Cotton today had joined Dist. Atty. Gilbert D. Ferrell in a crackdown on liquor hijackers in San Mateo County, pronouncing a sentence to San Quentin prison upon Carl Hendershot, 23, San Francisco, for burglarizing the Waldorf Cafe, 213 Second Ave., San Mateo, of 60 cases of liquor.

"We are not going to tolerate crimes of this kind in this county," Judge Cotton declared — "these crimes that are deliberately planned and premeditated. If anyone had interfered with them they probably would have been killed."

"And we want to service notice on any lawbreakers," Judge Cotton continued, "that they had better stay away from San Mateo County and not commit offenses of this kind. This is one of the most serious offenses ever called to my attention. . . ."

District Attorney Ferrell declared several months ago that persons found guilty of hijacking liquor in San Mateo County would be severely punished.

Hendershot's sentence calls for a term of from 1 to 15 years. He had pleaded guilty to second degree burglary and asked for probation, but Probation Officer Francis Robinson recommended against probation.

When Hendershot was arrested by San Francisco police a few days after the Waldorf was burglarized on Nov. 16 he insisted that he committed the crime alone. Today, however, he told Chief Dep. Dist. Atty. Louis B. Dematteis in a final statement before going to San Quentin, that two other persons were involved, but he refused to divulge their names.

Hendershot was visibly emotionally upset Monday afternoon when Judge Cotton pronounced sentence upon him. He embraced his wife, who was in court with her father, a marine sergeant, and sobbed freely. The couple's one-year-old daughter was being kept outside the courtroom door by a friend, and Hendershot clasped the baby and carried it to jail with him.

Atty. Edward J. Ryan pleaded to Judge Cotton that Hendershot had not been in serious trouble before, that he had a wife and a child, that he had co-operated with the police and that he was a "dupe of convicts."

Hendershot, officers testified, sold 54 cases of liquor for more than $3200, but he failed to collect $915 for 15 cases. Most of the liquor has been confiscated by officers. Hendershot refused to tell what he did with the money he collected from the sales.

Hendershot told Dematteis today that he committed the burglary to get money to fight a manslaughter charge pending against him in San Francisco. He was at liberty on bail when the crime was committed. The manslaughter charge was the outcome of a street fight in San Francisco

War Council Supports Bond Drives

Participation of the Redwood City War Council in war bond sales was carried out last year through cooperation of the war bond committee and the block organization, according to the annual report of the council, which was released recently.

The war council, through the war bond committee, headed by Martin Flynn, sponsored Budda's amateur show at the Sequoia High School in September in connection with the Third War Loan drive, the price of admission being a war bond purchase.

A residential canvass by block matrons to urge residents to increase their bond purchases resulted in an additional $200,000 worth being sold.

As one of the war services of the war council, the block organization is used where a quick and intensive coverage of the city is required. The report prepared by Mrs. A. S. Kalenborn, chairman, shows that 285 block matrons volunteered, and 176 of these were certified as daytime air raid wardens.

The block matrons contacted 900 homes at the request of the San Mateo County department of social welfare to ascertain the need for a day care center for children of working mothers, and found 90 women interested in such a program. The survey was later used by the Co-ordinating Council of Social Agencies of the county as an index of the need for such centers in other communities.

Block matrons canvassed the city to enlist volunteers for civilian defense and Red Cross services, housing listings for service men and defense workers' families, blood donors and youth leaders. Five hundred twelve volunteers were secured for these various services, the report showed.

Relaying information to their neighbors regarding salvage campaigns, war nutrition classes, WAVE recruiting, war bond sales and other matters relating to the war effort was one of the activities of the block matrons.

Burlingame Man Held for Mayhem

Charles Lynch, 31, 926 Capuchino Ave., Burlingame, was placed in the county jail here at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday by Dep. Sheriffs Walter Moore and Adolph Waldeck on a charge of mayhem. His bail has been set at $5000 cash.

Chief Dep. Dist. Atty. Louis B. Dematteis said that Lynch previously had been arrested and charged with battery as the result of a fight at an inn in Millbrae Dec. 24. Dematteis said that Lynch struck Louis Rich, also of Burlingame, and knocked him down and kicked him in the face. Rich has lost the sight of his left eye as a result of the fracas, Dematteis said.

Both men were employed at Belair Shipyards.

Commission Modifies Zone Changes

Builders, realtors and property owners appeared at the meeting of the city planning commission Tuesday to offer their suggestions or objections to the proposed amendments to the zoning ordinance.

After considerable discussion, with a forthright expression of opinion from members of the various groups, certain modifications to the proposed amendments will be brought before the council at its next meeting. If they are approved, City Atty. Paul McCarthy will draw up the ordinance in legal form for final action.

Some opposition was voiced to the provisions of the amendments, but this gave way when the regulations were thoroughly explained. When the meeting ended at a late hour, harmony apparently existed among the various groups on the final conclusions of the commission.

John Nordstrand, representing, as he said, "John Q. Public," that is, people who are interested, but do not appear, said he felt any such measures should be drafted with a view to encouraging permanent residents of a desirable character to settle in the community. Nordstrand is a member of the residential committee of the Commuters Club.

First draft of the amendments proposed that on corner lots where the house faced the length of the lot, the rear yard need not exceed 10 feet in depth. The phase "10 feet" was changed to read: "10 per cent of the width of the lot, but not more than 10 feet nor less than 5 feet."

The amendment provided that in first and second residential districts group residences and appurtenant garages might not occupy over 40 per cent of the ground area. This percentage was changed to 45 in the modified amendment.

The fourth regulation applicable to group residences read: "The side yard of the lot must be at least 10 feet if the rear of any house is toward the side line of the lot; otherwise five feet.

The ninth regulation for group residences required that at least 2500 square feet of land be provided for each family. This would be reduced to 1950 by the proposed change, with 1000 square feet required per family for two-story houses, and it was provided that this should not apply to apartment houses.

The Great Smoky Mountains National Park is believed to have a greater variety of plant life than any other section of the world, more than 1500 varieties.

PUT YOUR FINGER DOWN ON THIS SABOTEUR OF HEALTH ... Keep on top of the "flu" germ this winter. He is going about nipping folks these cold and wet wintry days. Don't let him sabotage your health and cost you time and money on your important job these war days.

When you go out of doors this winter—dress in warm, dry, weather-tight clothing. But if you should come home cold and wet, change at once to warm dry clothing. At the first symptom of a cold, doctor-up and climb into bed. Get the advice of a nurse or doctor and get well and keep well.

It would be a good idea, too, to see that your home heating equipment is working efficiently and economically. Use heat wisely. Do not overheat and waste fuel. Keep windows and doors and fireplace openings closed to prevent heat loss. All fuel today is fighting fuel, essential and vital and enormously needed in war production.

...unless you can take it

One night last week, in the battle-scarred Italian mountains, Scripps-Howard Correspondent Ernie Pyle watched as the bodies of U. S. fighting men were brought down from the heights. His report:

In this war I have known a lot of officers who were loved and respected by the soldiers under them. But never have I crossed the trail of any man as beloved as Captain Henry T. Waskow of Belton, Tex.

Captain Waskow was a company commander in the 36th Division. He had been in this company since long before he left the States. He was very young—only in his middle 20s—but he carried in him a sincerity and gentleness that made people want to be guided by him. . . .

I was at the foot of the mule trail the night they brought Captain Waskow down. The moon was nearly full, and you could see far up the trail, and even part way across the valley. Soldiers made shadows as they walked.

Dead men had been coming down the mountain all evening, lashed on to the backs of mules. . . . The first one came early in the morning. They slid him down from the mule, and stood him on his feet for a moment. In the half light he might have been merely a sick man standing there leaning on the other. Then they laid him in the shadow of the stone wall. . . .

I don't know who that first one was. You feel small in the presence of dead men, and you don't ask silly questions.

We left him there beside the road, that first one, and we all went back into the cowshed and sat on water cans or lay on the straw, waiting for the next batch of mules. . . .

Then a soldier came into the cowshed and said there were some more bodies outside. We went out into the road. Four mules stood there in the moonlight, in the road where the trail came down off the mountain. The soldiers who led them stood there waiting.

"This one is Captain Waskow," one of them said quickly.

Two men unlashed his body from the mule and lifted it off and laid it in the shadow beside the stone wall. Other men took the other bodies off. Finally there were five lying end to end in a long row.

The uncertain mules moved off to their olive groves. The men in the road seemed reluctant to leave. They stood around, and gradually I could sense them moving, one by one, close to Captain Waskow's body. Not so much to look, I think, as to say something in finality to him and to themselves. I stood close by and I could hear.

One soldier came and looked down, and he said loud:

". . . . damn it!"

That's all he said, and then he walked away.

Another one came, and he said, ". . . damn it to hell anyway!" He looked down for a few last moments and then turned and left.

Another man came. I think he was an officer. It was hard to tell officers from men in the dim light, for everybody was grimy and dirty. The man looked down into the dead captain's face and then spoke directly to him, as though he were alive: "I'm sorry, old man."

Then a soldier came and stood beside the officer and bent over, and he too spoke to his dead captain, not in a whisper but awfully tenderly, and he said: "I sure am sorry, sir."

Then the first man squatted down, and he reached down and took the captain's hand, and he sat there for a full five minutes holding the dead hand in his own and looking intently into the dead face. And he never uttered a sound all the time he sat there.

Finally he put the hand down. He reached up and gently straightened the points of the captain's shirt collar, and then he sort of rearranged the tattered edges of his uniform around the wound, and then he got up and walked away down the road in the moonlight, all alone. . . .

WMC Office Asks Help Of Women

The War Manpower Commission office at Redwood City today fired a double-barreled appeal to housewives of South San Mateo County to help in the production of vital war materials by (1) going to work, and/or (2) opening up their homes to war workers.

"Production is seriously handicapped in the Redwood City area because of the acute shortage of workers," Mrs. Marie T. Bolton of the Redwood City office declared.

"There is a crying need for workers in war production plants in this area," Mrs. Bolton said, "and we have to depend upon women to fill those jobs."

Mrs. Bolton said there was a big need for stenographers, typists, clerical workers and office workers of all kinds, and for war production workers.

Mrs. Bolton did not divulge the exact number of persons required in this area, but she said the need is "tremendous." She said transfer of workers was not desired, but that new workers were wanted—inexperienced women who could learn new tasks.

Women up to 50 or 55 years of age are welcome to apply for positions, Mrs. Bolton said.

In the second shot fired by Mrs. Bolton, she urged that persons who have room to spare take war workers into their homes, because o fthe housing shortage. She said that she had a lot of applicants who would like to work in this vicinity but that they could find no place to live.

There are also jobs open for men, she pointed out.

The WMC office, formerly the U.S. Employment Service before being taken over by the manpower commission, is located in the basement of the courthouse here.

The average earnings of 2,080,883 male wage earners in Canada in the census year of 1941 was $998, as compared with $927 for the 1931 census.

Stars Aplenty In Folies Bergere

Folies Bergere producer Clifford C. Fischer gathered together great vaudeville stars of two continents for the 1944 Folies now at Winterland in San Francisco.

Fischer, an American by birth but Parisian by residence, has watched as well as produced shows all over the world. From these shows he chose the cast for his dazzling new Folies Bergere, which presents a cast of 120 persons including 80 beautiful girls.

Many of the Folies performers are European born and toured the continent for many years before coming to America. In Europe Fischer first say Truzzi, sensational Russian-born juggler; Malcia, saucy English dancer; the unicycling Shyretto trio, members of an old Austrian circus family; and the Cristianis, famous Italian bareback riding and acrobatic family.

American-born Jeanne Devereaux, prima ballerina, and Barto and Mann, comedy dance team, were touring Europe when Fischer saw them for the first time.

In America Fischer met Monroe and Grant, trampoline stars, while they were travelling with a roller skating revue. Rollo and Verna Pickert were dancing in "Babes in Arms" in New York, and Charles Judels, cheery M.C., has kept Fischer laughing for many years during his career as a character actor of the stage and scren.

Willie, West and McGinty, clown carpenters, have been friends of Fischer's in Europe and America, and many of the Folies dancers and show girls were noted by the famous producer.

Tickets for all performances of the Folies Bergere are on sale at Winterland and at Sherman Clay box offices in San Francisco and Oakland. Mail orders addressed to Winterland, San Francisco (15) are recommended by the management for choice seat locations and a saving of time, tires and gasoline.

M.P. COUNCIL: Members Vote Purchase of War Bonds

MENLO PARK—The purchase of $5000 worth of bonds was voted this week by the Menlo Park City Council with recommendation for the purchase of $5000 more at the next meeting if figures on the first tax installment collection are favorable.

Although money for the bonds is available now in the general fund, it was suggested by Councilman William Cutter, commissioner of streets and sidewalks, that the purchase of the second block of bonds be held up until a report has been made to the council regarding the amount coming in from the collections of the first installment of taxes. The rest of the council then agreed unanimously to postpone consideration of the second $5000 bond purchase until the next meeting.

Preceding the discussion on the purchase of war bonds, the council had listened to a report from County Health Insptr. Emil Stein, regarding an alleged violation of the health and safety code on the premises of Mrs. Mary Ponzini, 1055 Evelyn Ave.

Stein charged in his report that the 10 apartments on the property were "sub-standard and unfit for human habitation or occupancy."

The report stated that the 10 apartments had been converted from former garbage truck stalls and that 40 per cent structural changes would be needed to meet health and safety code requirements.

J. A. Sullivan, attorney for Mrs. Ponzini, spoke briefly for his client and suggested that the matter be studied by City Atty. James O'Keefe Jr. with a view of working out some adjustment. O'Keefe agreed to the suggestion.

The request of Don Hampton that the Weltner Motor Co. be allowed to establish a used car lot on the corner of El Camino and Santa Cruz was referred, after some debate, for consideration of the planning commission. Hampton asserted that his company planned to landscape the property, if granted a license, in such a way that the appearance of the corner would be greatly enhanced.

Twin Ceremonies For Army-Navy 'E'

Twin ceremonies will mark the presentation of the army-navy "E" award to the men and women of the Martinez plant and the Dominguez plant, Shell chemical division, Shell Union Oil Corp. The Martinez ceremony will be held Tuesday, Feb. 1, while the Dominguez affair will take place Jan. 27.

At Martinez, Thomas E. McCauley, chief lend lease division, U. S. Treasury Department, procurement division, will act as master of ceremonies, it was announced today by J. Oostermeyer, executive vice president in charge.

The award, Mr. Oostermeyer said, is being made to the men and women of the plants for their excellent record in the production of war materials.

"We are all very proud that we have merited this twin award, and I feel sure that the double honor will inspire us to even greater achievements," said Mr. Oostermeyer.

Guinea Pigs Figure in Suit

The Guinea pig business had come to such a pass today that one Guinea pig raiser was accusing another Guinea pig raiser of deliberately selling diseased stock to ruin his business. And the plaintiff Guinea pig raiser asks the superior court to collect $2500 damages from the defendant Guinea pig raiser, Benno Rittler of 590 Fifth Ave., Redwood City.

The complaining Guinea pig raiser is William Stoker, who is only a part-time Guinea pig raiser according to his attorney, F. E. Hoffman. Stoker conducts an orchestra in San Francisco but tends to a Guinea pig farm in San Mateo on the side.

The Stoker establishment provides Guinea pigs for the San Francisco City and County Hospital, Letterman General Hospital and other institutions where Guinea pigs are used for experimental purposes.

The complaint filed by Stoker in superior court today recites that Stoker, on Nov. 15, 1942, purchased his Guinea pig farm from one Charles Merritt, and that the original Merritt strain of Guinea pigs was free of disease. It developed, says the complaint, that Merritt purchased an additional supply of Guinea pigs from Rittler for breeding purposes.

The complaint charges Rittler with deliberately selling diseased stock to Merritt, resulting in an ultimate streptococcus infection throughout the entire herd of Guinea pigs.

Stocker said the infection has caused the death of 500 Guinea pigs. He asks $2500 damages.

2 Peninsulans Hurt in S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Between 25 and 30 women were injured Wednesday as a double gangplank upended and pitched them to the dock at Pier 36. All those hurt were engaged in ship repair.

Most gravely injured was Frank Landon, 65, of 546 Sixth Ave., Menlo Park. He had a skull fracture. He was taken to Harbor Emergency Hospital for treatment.

One crew of men was boarding the ship, and another was leaving on the double gangplank. Without warning the plank tore loose at the ship end and swung almost perpendicular, hurling all the workers onto the dock.

Aloysius Davenroy of 410 Eaton Ave., Redwood City, was among those receiving hospital treatment for cuts and bruises.

THE MARINES, TOO, DEPEND ON GREYHOUND

Like men and women in all branches of the armed forces, the Marine Corps Women's Reserve depends on Greyhound for transportation. Greyhound buses serve Camp Elliott, San Diego, and other Marine training centers, as well as Marine bases from coast to coast. Other special services are also performed by Greyhound, often on a moment's notice. For example, buses are often requisitioned from regular schedules to transfer wounded between hospitals. In spite of shortages of buses and experienced personnel, the whole Greyhound organization is concentrating its efforts and resources to provide adequate transportation for all who must travel.

Sequoia Graduate Killed In Southern Italy Action

Word has been received here of the death in action in Southern Italy of Frank Thatcher Saunders Jr., who graduated from Sequoia Union High School June 14, 1940.

The official telegram received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thatcher Saunders, 30 Robin Hood Dr., San Francisco, gave the date of his death as Jan. 11. His last letter was dated Jan. 8, and indicated that he was in good spirits. A New Year's broadcast emanating from Italy which told of a big raid staged on New Year's Eve, Mr. Saunders said, added "for the benefit of Pacific Coast listeners" that Frank T. Saunders was pilot on one of the Flying Fortresses that participated in the raid.

Saunders was born in Bensenville, Ill., Feb. 21, 1921. He came to San Francisco with his parents in 1939, after graduation from McCallie Military Academy, and chose Sequoia High School for his senior year. He lived in San Carlos while attending Sequoia. He attended Santa Clara University for two years, then entered the Army Air Corps.

Saunders went first to Santa Ana, then to Hemmett Field and Victorville. He was stationed at Carlsbad, N. M., for a time, and was sent overseas from Columbia, S. C., early in September. The young flier had a dual rating of bombardier and navigator. His letters told of completing many flying missions in the Italian war theater.

Mr. and Mrs. Saunders were in Seattle when they received the news of their son's death. Saunders is an executive of the Bethlehem Steel Co. in San Francisco. They have a daughter, Mrs. Frank L. Miller III in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Passage of Airport Move Considered Vital to County

Passage Monday by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors of a real estate transaction that would give Mills Field 10 million dollars worth of improvements in return for the navy's title to Treasure Island was viewed here today as a move of vast importance to the county.

All of the improvements would be made at the municipal airport in San Mateo County, it was pointed out, and in addition, enlargement of the field and its facilities points to expanded personnel and greater payrolls for the north county in the postwar years.

The supervisors voted final passage of ordinances authorizing contracts between the city and the army and navy for work. Of the 10 million to be spent by the federal government at the airport, Utilities Mgr. E. G. Cahill said 4½ million will be spent by the navy on a seaplane base and more than five million by the army on landing strips. All improvements revert to the city under terms of the contract.

Payrolls at the airport, based on figures during the past five years, reveal that they have reached a minimum of $3,259,000 annually. United Air Lines employs more than 1200 workers at its base at the airport, paying them three million dollars a year. Another $170,000 a year goes to workers of the field's Inter-Continental Radio Communications Center. The Civil Aeronautics Administration's control tower operators are paid $25,000 a year, while the payroll of the United States Weather Bureau station is more than $64,000.

At present San Francisco is operating its airport at a loss, covered by a $500,000 subsidy necessary for its continued operation. However, when termination of the war permits normal operation of the port and the resumption of full-scale commercial and private flying activities, the operating income of the airport is expected to at least equal if not exceed the operating expense of the utility.

Bond Drive Half Way To Its Goal

More than half way to the goal of $500,000 at the end of the first week of the campaign.

That is the status of the Redwood City-Woodside-La Honda Fourth War Loan drive, as reported by Drive Chmn. J. A. (Jake) Buhler today.

A total of $280,627.25 worth of bonds have been purchased in the Redwood City area, and $12,800 in Woodside, Buhler's figures show. Of the Redwood City sales, $111,601.25 represented purchases of the "E" Series bonds. Sales efforts for the first two weeks of the drive are being concentrated on this series, which are of the $25 and $100 denomination.

Mrs. Alice Stafford is chairman of the Redwood City block matrons who are making a house to house canvass. Mrs. W. A. Harper heads the Emerald Lake group and Mrs. H. T. Sutcliffe the Palomar Park group. Mrs. Howard Williams has added two members to her Woodside committee. They are Mrs. Edgar L. Morris and Marjorie G. Josselyn.

In Woodside, a thermometer has been erected by the fire department to show progress of the sales. Bonds and stamps are available at Neuman Bros. store, Woodside store and the fire house. The Woodside committee urged that Woodside residents buy their bonds in Woodside, and watch the thermometer go up to the $50,000 mark.

Block matrons in all localities are meeting with a good response, the drive committee finds. In some places they have found a mistaken idea existing that the women who are making house to house calls receive a commission on sales. This is entirely erroneous, Buhler said, as all volunteers in the drive are serving without remuneration of any kind.

Burglars Ransack Home of Mrs. Swett

While Capt. James Swett of San Mateo and Miss Lois Anderson of Oakland were being wed Saturday night in Burlingame before more than 400 persons, burglars, apparently in search of wedding presents, broke their way into the bride's Oakland home and ransacked the house, it was revealed today.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Anderson, left their home at 54 Manilla Ave., Oakland, around 5 p.m. Saturday to attend their daughter's marriage to San Mateo's Jap-shooting marine ace. When they returned around midnight, the front door had been broken open and everything was in confusion throughout the house. Nothing was missing and Oakland police theorized that the burglars had read of the wedding in newspapers and made an attempt to make off with the couple's wedding presents.

One Person Hurt In 4-Car Crash

One person received minor injuries in a four-vehicle smashup on Bayshore Hwy. at Ralston Ave., Belmont, at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, the California Highway Patrol reported today. Injured was O. E. Crone of Redwood City.

The accident occurred when a truck attempted to pass a car which was making a turn into Ralston Ave., the CHP said. Drivers of two northbound vehicles were August Valenza, 58, San Francisco, who was driving a truck, and Harold Tucker, 43, 815 Laurel Ave., Burlingame, an employe of National Motor Bearing Co., at Redwood City.

Southbound drivers were Willie Hardy, 28, 807 Canyon Rd., and Delbert Ambler, 45, Campbell, who was driving a truck. Crone was riding with Hardy. Valenza was issued a collision notice, the CHP reported. The car which had stopped to make a turn was not hit.

The meeting was followed by a "Gay 90's" party in the main foyer under the courthouse dome.

C. G. Gillespie, chief of the bureau of sanitary engineering, State Department of Health, today informed Dr. Charles C. Gans, San Mateo County Health and Welfare director, that he would be here Tuesday to confer with him and the board of supervisors on the necessity of forming a sanitary district in the north end of the county.

The supervisors at their last meeting declared their intention of forming the district and asked Dr. Gans to make a necessary survey.

OPA Answers Questions on Ration Tokens

Ration tokens will come into use on Feb. 27. The following questions and answers were issued by the Office of Price Administration today to help consumers understand how they will buy with this new ration currency:

Q. When will I begin to use ration tokens?

A. Consumers will begin to receive tokens in change from their retailers on Feb. 27. They can be used immediately.

Q. Will OPA give each consumer a certain number of tokens when this new program begins, just as everybody was given a supply of ration stamps?

A. No. The only tokens you will get are those your retailer gives you in change.

Q. Why will I need ration change? So far, except for receiving 1-point meat stamps in change, I have just counted out the right number of stamps to give my retailer when I have bought rationed foods.

A. You will need change when tokens go into use because each red and each blue stamp in your ration book will be worth 10 points. It will no longer be so easy to give your dealer an exact number of points as it was when you had 8, 5, 2, and 1-point stamps to use.

Q. If each stamp will be worth 10 points, will I have more points to spend than I do now?

A. No. You will have almost exactly the same number of points as you do now. You will simply use fewer stamps during any one ration period. That's one advantage of the new plan since handling fewer stamps will cut down the work of your retailer and will make your ration book last longer.

Q. When each stamp is worth 10 points, how will OPA adjust the rationing program so as to give me the same number of points per month as I have now?

A. At present, three sets of processed foods stamps, a total of 12 stamps are worth 48 points. Under the token system, 5 blue stamps, worth 10 points each, will have a total value of 50 points. This small difference of two points can be adjusted by a slight change in the point value of processed foods.

Q. Will meat stamps be handled the same way?

A. Yes. At present each consumer gets 16 meat points a week, or 32 points every two weeks. Under the token system 3 red stamps, worth 10 points each, will give him 30 points to use during the first two weeks of token rationing. As in processed foods rationing, the small difference of two points will be adjusted in the point value of items rationed under the meat order.

Q. What will consumers do with their tokens?

A. They will use them very much as they do pennies. A consumer who buys items worth 23 blue points, for example, will give his retailer 2 blue stamps (a total of 20 points) and 3 blue tokens, (each worth 1 point). If he has no tokens he will give his retailer 3 blue stamps (30 points) and receive 7 blue tokens in change.

Q. Is there any difference between the meat and the processed foods tokens?

A. The only difference in the two kinds of tokens is in their color. The colors match the stamps with which they will be used: blue stamps and blue tokens for processed foods; red stamps and red tokens for meats and fats.

Q. If I have no blue tokens, may I use red ones to pay for processed foods?

A. No. You will use two kinds of tokens just as you have always used two kinds of point stamps —one set for processed foods, the other for meats.

Q. What is the advantage of using tokens?

A. Tokens are expected to make rationing simpler both for consumers and for the trade. There will be point currency of only two denominations — all stamps will be worth 10 points; all tokens, 1 point. Consumers who have long used dimes and pennies will find it easier to figure than when they handled ration stamps worth 8, 5, 2, and 1 points. It will be easier for retailers to count stamps and to make change than when they had to examine each stamp to determine its point value. Tokens are also easier to handle than stamps.

Q. Will I turn in my ration tokens at the end of each ration period?

A. No. Tokens have no expiration date.

Buy Bonds Here, Says Caboose

BY JOE CABOOSE

Space last week did not permit our telling you of the emotional appeals of Jack Welch and Miles McDonald which caused Commuters at their last dinner meeting to stampede in the purchase of thousand-dollar war bonds. The story is both interesting and timely.

★ ★ ★

Welch said there are three service stars in the window of his home . . . for his son, daughter and son-in-law. "To my house every month come three war bonds, one each purchased by these kids," said Jack. "If they can buy a bond every month out of their $50 salary, so can you!"

McDonald's appeal was in this vein: "What do you mean, we have to sell war bonds? We ought to regard it a privilege to be allowed to buy them. I have reason to believe that my boy tonight is lying half-buried in mud on the battlefield near Cassino. Do you think anybody has to sell me bonds? Not on your life! Every dollar I can get my hands on beyond what is needed for the actual necessities of life, goes into war bonds!"

We have already told you how these talks started a rush of subscriptions that netted more than $15,000 in bonds . . . from among 45 Commuters. We overlooked, in listing names last week, the name of Bert Conroy who was among the $2000 subscribers.

★ ★ ★

Now comes Chrm. Clarence Brizee of the Commuters War Loan committee with a report that he and his committeemen—Al Armitage, Wrex Cruse, Claude Gerdes and Lu Reiss—have gone over the $25,000 mark in their bond solicitation among Commuters. Brizee's committee sent a letter to each member of the club asking him not only to put all he can in war bonds, but to BUY THEM IN REDWOOD CITY, and to get his commuter friends, club members or not, to do likewise.

★ ★ ★

Listen, friends, you don't have to be a Commuter to buy your bonds through the Commuters Club of Redwood City. We hold our street sales on Feb. 12, and you can buy at the booth then; or before, by making your check out to your bank and mailing it to Clarence Brizee, care Commuters Club, P. O. Box 703, Redwood City.

★ ★ ★

We have never asked you for anything in this column. But we are going to ask you now! If you get any pleasure from reading Joe Caboose, you can show your appreciation by buying a bond through the Commuters Club. If you wish, you can make your check payable to your favorite bank, and send with your bond order to Joe Caboose, care the Redwood City Tribune. We'll see to it that you get your bond promptly. And we'll personally appreciate the order very much.

★ ★ ★

The sick committee reports: Chester Armstrong is confined with a "strep" throat. John McGraw has passed the crisis at Mills and is well on the road to recovery. Visitors are still barred from the Corbett sick room, but Joe is said to be coming along nicely. Frank Brady is convalescing from pneumonia. Mrs. Walter Harden is back home from Mills, doing nicely. John Brand is laid up with a sore leg. (He told Martha he was kicked by a mule on his way home from the last Commuters' party.)

★ ★ ★

We've cautioned John time and again about taking that short cut through the pasture.

★ ★ ★

An orchid to Dan Lebo for helping out the USO ladies in some of their problems. We understand Chairlady Cutting (Mrs. Tom) and her staff were not getting nearly enough Coca Cola to go around, and that Dan went to bat for them. Now they have all they can use.

Incidentally Tom Giannini, chairman of the Commuters USO committee, Tom Cutting and Bill Curran have been giving some time and attention to the needs of the local chapter, which is reputedly (on the testimony of servicemen themselves) "one of the best in the country." There are further USO problems to be worked out, but in the meantime Ted Thompson, Dorothy Cutting and all the others who have contributed toward making it "a little bit of home" to thousands of lonesome servicemen deserve a world of credit.

Stan Perkins held a house committee meeting last week at Giannini's where plans were laid for the club's next regular dinner meeting, scheduled for Feb. 10 at Sodini's. Secretary McKeegan reported on attendance figures. He stated that the average attendance at club functions during 1943 was 20 per cent above 1942. He predicted another 20 per cent increase in '44 over '43. Despite the fact there was no solicitation of new members in 1943, the Commuters' Club is steadily growing. May its growth be proportionate in its service to the community!

SERVICE: Richard Collins Returns to Redwood City

VERNON K. HEINSON WINS RECOGNITION

Recognition as a "qualified striker" for the petty officer rate of machinist's mate 3rd class, was granted to Bluejacket Vernon K. Heinson, 18, Redwood City, upon his graduation from the U.S. Naval Training Station at Great Lakes, Ill.

Headquarters of the San Francisco Port of Embarkation at Fort Mason announced today that Pvt. Werner Heer has been authorized to receive the Army Good Conduct Medal. The award is granted for exemplary behavior, efficiency and fidelity for a period of one year or more.

Heer, who lived on Rt. 2 in Redwood City, is the husband of Mrs. Helen Heer, 560 Powell St., San Francisco. His military service began Sept. 15, 1942.

Because of metal shortages, the award of the medal has been discontinued for the duration, but wearing of the appropriate ribbon is authorized.

Relief Problem Shows Improvement

Continued improvement in the relief problem in San Mateo County is shown by decreasing numbers of people receiving all types of relief except aid to the needy aged and dependent children, California Taxpayers' Assn. stated today, making public its study of relief trends in California counties for the last six months of 1943.

In December, 31 people in the county were receiving aid as needy blind, compared with 3 for the July preceding, the association found.

In December, 73 children were receiving aid as dependent children, compared with 62 in July.

In December, 568 were receiving aid as county indigents, compared with 660 in July.

In December, the old age aid rolls numbered 1225 while in July 1184 were received aid to the needy aged. Increase in amount of aid and decrease in legal requirements for care of old people by their relatives were both in effect throughout the period, the association stated.

Reports Say Officials Favor Higher Nurse Pay

Departmental heads of the San Mateo County Dept. of Health and Welfare are of the opinion that surgical nurses and communicable disease nurses at Community Hospital should be paid a higher scale, a San Mateo source said today following a meeting at Canyon Sanitarium, but Dr. Charles C. Gans, county health and welfare director, declared all he had to say on the matter was contained in his statement to the County Civil Service Commission that wages for employes of his department were substandard.

It was reported that regular nurses now receive a starting wage of $160 a month, the same as the surgical and communicable disease nurses, and the latter feel they should be paid more than "regular" nurses. The latter group has pointed out that other hospitals pay $10 more a month for surgical and communicable disease nurses than for regular nurses.

MICKEY MOUSE, inspired by the wise Mr. Disney, puts it this way: "You can't breakfast like a bird and work like a horse!" Guess we'll all agree to that—and most of us are working like horses these days.

What kind of breakfast will your family start the day with, tomorrow? Will it keep them strong right up to lunchtime—or will it be a sparrows' breakfast?

What, No Time?

If it's lack of time that's worrying you, remember that you can get a good breakfast together in ten minutes—the time it takes to make a cup of coffee! Modern cereals are quick and easy as opening a package, and they come in more varieties than you can shake a stick at. And the cereal breakfast foods of 1944—natural, whole-grain, restored or enriched with vitamins and minerals—make an important contribution to the daily requirements of proteins, B-vitamins, minerals and fuel for energy.

You can serve a big bowl of cereal with fruit and milk and sugar in it, and have a breakfast in that single bowl! An egg or some meat takes only a few minutes, and rolls or bread or toast and butter (or margarine) add to the score.

Look Ahead!

Or if it's variety that's stopping you, maybe a "pin-up" plan will do the trick. All that's required is to make out breakfast menus for a full week in advance. Then pin them up over your range or kitchen sink, and run through the pattern. Hard to do? Easy!

First make yourself a list of the fruits your family likes and which are on the market (oranges, grapefruit, dried prunes, apples, etc.)—and remember they can be served alone or on cereal. Put opposite each one, the way you want to prepare them—stewed, sliced, fresh, squeezed (ever squeeze a grapefruit for the juice alone?—mmmmm!).

Then make a list of the cereals your family likes best, including a few different ones for them to try as a treat. Wheat, corn, oats, barley, bran, rice—what's their favorite flavor? Rolled, ground, flaked, made into shreds, biscuits, rounds—all shapes and sizes!

Make a list of the ways your family likes its bread—as many as you can. The same goes for eggs and meat. Change the style or choice as you follow the week through.

There's the basis for your week's "pin-up" breakfast plan! Follow it through—and watch your family go after good breakfasts with new zest!

Hints for Wise Wives

And here are some "note-book" hints which might come in handy when you're planning those good breakfasts:

For a change, sprinkle brown sugar on hot oatmeal—

Serve sliced raw apple with cereals of the farina type (or any type, for that matter)—

For pancakes, melt a little butter or margarine in the syrup and use that combination only on the cakes.
